NOVEMBER 2019  •  www.ASHIReporter.org  39
As your ASHI President, I must say that 2019 is turning out to be a monumental year for ASHI and our members! We have been able to make significant advancements in our internal operations—from adding a new back-office database, a new advanced discussion board and our new website that will go live in a few months. In addition, we will be launching our very own ASHI Insurance Program this fall. Even with all of this, the most important achievement is the fruition of almost four years of work by more than 50 individuals on a committee and a task force to design, develop and form the future of ASHI for many years to come.

I would like to thank the Relevance Task Force for their work and the Strategic Planning Committee for their nearly three years of work. These groups’ in-depth evaluation and study provided the groundwork and much of the supporting information that was then taken up by the Bylaws Committee to formulate the proposed Bylaw updates that were emailed to members. Be sure to check your email from ASHI and vote today.

The proposed changes reflect the changes in our profession, changes in association management, changes in social interaction and technological advancements. We all must keep in mind that ASHI is here to serve the entire membership. Your elected leaders recognize the importance of our chapters, newly formed meeting groups and non-affiliated members, and the proposed changes to our bylaws reflect this purpose—to serve the entire membership.

Your elected ASHI Board of Directors has voted to support all the proposed Bylaw changes, and I encourage all voting members to support and vote for the proposed changes as well.

The Bylaws for the American Society of Home Inspectors (ASHI) have not undergone a full evaluation in many years, nor have they undergone a substantial, document-wide update to reflect the best practices of modern association management.

The findings of the ASHI Relevance Task Force’s report reflected the need for updating our guiding document. Issues relating to technology, communication, board size, elections, the Council of Representatives and other items show a cumbersome older model. In order for ASHI to be a nimble and efficient decision-making association that always represents its entire membership, the ASHI Relevance Task Force recommended that changes be made.

The major changes proposed for the bylaws represent a change to ASHI’s culture—to embrace innovation in the profession and expansion of the roles and expertise of home inspectors. Any past emphasis on adversarial relationships within ASHI groups is being set aside, and resources are being allocated to programs and services that provide tangible benefits for all members.

A key to the success of these changes in the ASHI Bylaws is to increase the efficiency and effectiveness of the Board. Reduction in size, availability for all members to serve and setting term limits all address this issue. A Board size of 11 members is reflective of an association of ASHI’s size.

Consolidating the Nominating Committees into one oversight group to verify credentials will streamline the election process. All positions will be available to the entire membership. There will no longer be a petition process to get on the ballot; all qualified persons will be included on the ballot.

The purpose and mission of the Council of Representatives must evolve to be a group focused on benefits and programs that have value for the entire membership. From this Council, we will form a new Membership Relations Committee. All members, chapters and meeting groups will be welcome to participate on this committee.

ASHI leaders recognize that, as an entity, ASHI represents all members on an equal level. ASHI leaders also recognize the importance of chapters and that the newly formed meeting groups are keys to ASHI members’ experience. The value to members of these entities should be independent of and in addition to the value provided by ASHI national.

The Bylaw Committee is confident that the changes are in the best interest of the membership of ASHI and a needed update to our guiding document. Please join us in supporting the proposed changes to the ASHI bylaws.
